COMMENT and RUMOR

The best quotation we ran across this week was:

"The best doctors in the world are Dr. Quiet, Dr. Diet and Dr. Merryman."

Some of our tired business people need to read this over three times and then decide to be quiet, be careful what they eat, and naturally they will then be cheerful.

Earl Shaw, Ocean Beach Furniture store proprietor, yesterday morning was about ready to give up the ghost. He said when he opened the warehouse door he found that "94" rolls of inoleum had toppled over during the night. That stuff is heavy too and we'll bet Earl had a time getting Mrs. Shaw to re-stack it in a more secure position.

We heard the tontorialists at Mack's barber shop, 4937 Newport ave., wishing their cash register would come back home. They were talking about leaving the front door unlocked each Friday night so that the thief who purloined the register might return it. "No questions will be asked."

What makes that sleepy look on a number of our business men the past two weeks? Looks like they might have been walking the floor with a new baby, but most of them are past that stage of life, so there must be another reason. It could be an extended game of poker, yet they don't go in for that sport so we'll just have to wait until the ailment is diagnosed more thoroughly.

PHONE TROUBLE

The News office phone—Bayview 3157—continues to give the busy signal when some of our customers are calling and the line to our office is not in use. The trunk line is overloaded, and if you cannot get us when you ring this office, please dial operator, and have her ring this number. In most cases you will be able to get your message through.

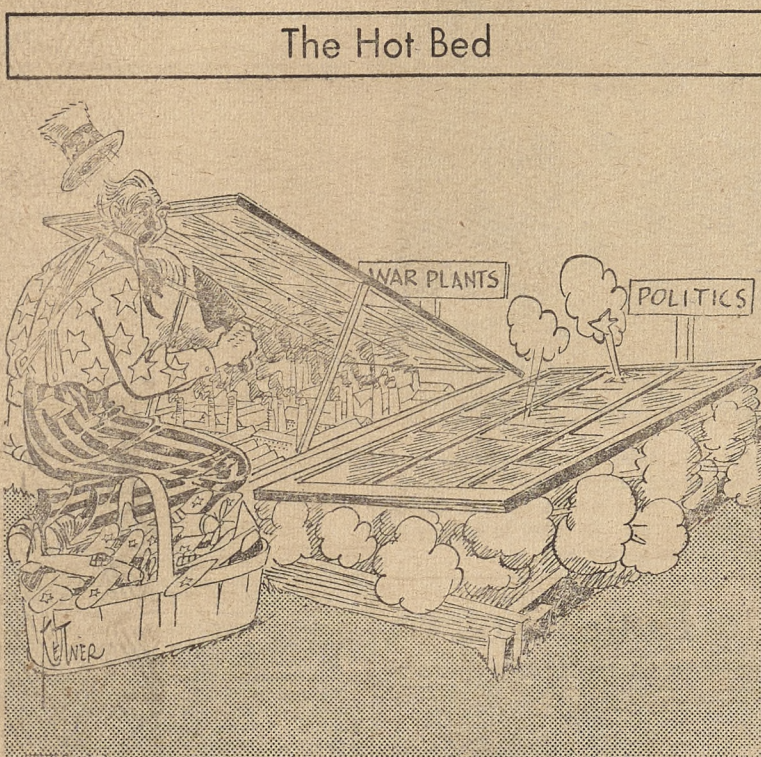

City May Buy 80 Acres Adjoining Collier "Park"

Authority was given City Manager Walter W. Cooper last week to purchase for the city 80 acres of land south of W. Pt. Loma blvd. and adjoining Collier park for street, park and other city purposes.

The land had been deeded to the state some time ago for non-payment of taxes, which, with penalties, approximate $16,000. The county has received an offer of $5,000 for the property. That would mean that the city would get about one-third of the taxes and penalties due on the lands. The city can acquire the property for $5,000, and its value soon will be no less than $80,000.

One Per Cent of Gasoline Obtained Unlawfully

One gallon out of every 100 dumped into auto gas tanks here since January 1 has been delivered on counterfeit gasoline stamps, the San Diego OPA reports.

Dealers have been "docked" 8422 gallons of gasoline for accepting such stamps without checking indorsements against numbers, or having taken stolen ration stamps without indorsements, B. Kenneth Goodman, enforcement chief of the local OPA, also disclosed.

Most of the stolen stamps that turned up here were traced to a theft of a Texas ration board. Some of these stamps turned up at the nation banks without any license number endorsements on them, and were caught in the OPA checkup of stolen and counterfeit stamps.

The 1 per cent estimate of stamps underwent the scientific "black light" machine test at OPA headquarters. This estimate indicates that more than 30,000 gallons a month have gone into gas tanks via fake stamps.

Loses Life In Surf

Dangerous To Swim Where There Are No Life Guards

While his wife looked on helplessly from the cliffs above, Donald Lee Miller, 22, of 212 Twenty-sixth st., National City, drowned Wednesday in the surf at the foot of Hill st., at Sunset Cliffs, police reported. The body was sent to Benbough funeral parlors.

Miller was swimming with his sister while his wife, Alma, watched them from the cliffs, officers said. The sister had left the water and was climbing up the face of the cliff when she heard her brother shout, she said. The sister said she thought Miller was joking with her, and she paid no attention. Suddenly she looked and saw her brother swept beneath the surface, police quoted her as saying. She raced down the cliff and into the water, but could not find Miller. Then she summoned soldiers at a nearby camp, but the soldiers were unable to locate Miller's body.

Police lifeguards then were called to search. Bill Gerrish, 17, of 4641 Alhambra st., swimming on a surfboard with the lifeguards, located Miller's body in 10 feet of water. Lifeguards recovered the body.

Jones quoted members of the family as saying Miller was a weak swimmer. He came to San Diego from Missouri last fall.

Organization Made By Recreation Group

Meeting again Tuesday evening for the purpose of discussing and furthering an all-out recreation program at Ocean Beach, local citizens representing many civic groups, chose a chairman and vice chairman who expect to be instrumental in establishing recreation facilities that will accommodate youth of all ages, families and visitors.

Rev. James F. Roberts in calling the meeting to order said: "It is time that we coordinate the efforts of each group in our community to meet the immediate need of furnishing adequate recreational facilities for our youth in Ocean Beach. We must unite our joint efforts to establish adequate playground and building facilities for the improvement of Ocean Beach for all San Diegans who come to play."

"We need to have vision to see the immediate problem. We need understanding to solve the problem and we need to have genuine cooperation to complete our task. We must be unselfishness, pa-committed to our community goals. We must work together for the best interest of our community."

Rev. James F. Roberts was elected chairman, Mrs. Donald Muchmore, vice chairman on ballot of those attending.

Rev. Roberts, at the suggestion of the society, appointed two committees to help supervise the planning of the program in the Davis building, which included Mrs. Martha McIntosh, Daniel Moss and Martin Murphy. Another committee was appointed to work with the city planning commission to offer suggestions in the design of a new recreation building at the foot of Newport ave. These committee members are L. L. Bloomers, Clarence Swenson and Rollin Reed.

Beach Club Applaud IN THE SERVICE--

Rev. Robert's Address

The U. S. foreign policy was the subject of a stirring address given by Rev. James F. Roberts, minister of the Ocean Beach Methodist church, when he spoke to members of the Ocean Beach Woman's club at the regular monthly meeting held Thursday, April 13, in the club rooms on Abbott st., following the annual election of officers for the coming club year with Mrs. C. W. Early elected president to succeed Miss Kate Spani. Highlighting the "U. S. Foreign Policy," recent book by Walter Lippman, the speaker stressed the need to have a workable and accepted foreign policy which will safeguard successfully its people in time of war and one that will decide firmly what policy will follow in the settlement of the present conflict. "Since the election of 1900, no president has been able to rely on the united support of the Nation in the conduct of foreign affairs; nor can we have an adequate foreign policy without the reinforcements of nations whose ideals and ambitions and desires are the same as ours," he said. Urging federated club women to realize the great responsibility to aid in bringing to an end the tragedies of war the speaker pointed to the need of each member to do more than pass resolutions, drink a cup of mine, and say it is no concern of mine. "What women think and do today is important to the future of the nation . . . and how long are the women of our nation going to stand for the sacrifices of war and send their boys to be slaughtered, murdered, wounded, persecuted and maimed for life.

The history of our foreign relations in the 20th century is a story of failure and because of our failure to balance the commitments made in the 19th century we have had to fight two great wars," he declared. Rev. Roberts concluded his talk by saying, "we can have an adequate United States foreign policy when the people of the United States and the Congress unite to demand of our State department a commitment that they will have within it integrity, honesty and moral stamina, and that we have behind our agreement a force and a power that the world will respect and that we are firm in our belief that the United States is a great nation and that we need not play second fiddle to any nation in the world."

Mrs. B. H. Nielsen, representing the local group at the recent spring convention of the San Diego county federation of women's clubs, gave an interesting outline of the two day session when Rev. O. J. C. Norem, former minister plenipotentiary from the United States to Lithuania and Dr. Malborne W. Graham, professor of history and political science, U. C. L. A., appeared as guest speakers on the program. Mrs. Jeanette E. Daley, spoke briefly on the importance of women knowing more of the bills pending in Congress and told of a few which have recently been introduced and the effects on the status of certain classes of professional women. During the business meeting which was presided over by Miss Kate Spani, the building committee reported that the contract was signed for the moving and remodeling of the building which will be the permanent home of the club.

The following new officers were elected: Mrs. C. W. Early, president; Mrs. Paul Hendrickson, first vice president; Mrs. Glen Jones, second vice president; Miss Kate Spani, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ella Smith, recording secretary; Mrs. C. A. Barker, treasurer; Mrs. C. W. Varney, historian; Mrs. Frank Barks, auditor; and Mrs. Julia T. McGarvey, parliamentarian.

The social hour was in charge of Mrs. C. H. Woolley who was assisted by Mrs. E. R. Stivers and Mrs. Margaret Reinfrank.

Beach District Exceeds Red Cross Drive Quota

Over $10,000 was collected in the Ocean Beach and Point Loma district in the recent Red Cross War fund drive, giving nearly a 150 per cent of the quota allotted this district. Local heads of the drive are to be commended for their zealous work in the endeavor.

The 1944 campaign for San Diego county did not meet the goal of $868,000 which had been set. The appeal netted $750,000 to the close of the drive.

With the present time $750,000 is a lot of money and in the majority of cases people have been indeed generous in their response.

Local Insurance Man Rejoins Kiwanis

Daniel Moss, Ocean Beach merchant, was program chairman at Ocean Beach Kiwanis club last Tuesday evening, having as his speaker DeGraff Austin, candidate for supervisor of the first district, which includes Point Loma, Ocean Beach, Old Town and part of Mission Hills.

Mr. Austin gave a very worthwhile talk on San Diego's immediate needs beginning with a brief outline of the S. S. Diego Water Authority and the water situation in San Diego city and county. He said the city now uses about 50 million gallons daily and officials have a well planned water development program which will continue as fast as material and money are available.

From Boulder dam San Diego has 100 million gallons daily allotted and this must be secured either by joining the Metropolitan Water district of the Los Angeles area or bringing it by canal through Imperial valley to the foot of the Laguna mountains and then pumped over these and run by gravity down to the city and county. Austin recommended a vote for the Water Authority on May 16.

Briefly the speaker went into the recent vacating of the Davis bldg. for recreation purposes and then the re-entring of this structure by the City Recreation department. He thought this project would be in operation again within a week or such a matter. Also the city manager has been instructed by the city council to have plans made for an adequate building for recreation needs of the community, to be placed on city owned property at the foot of Newport ave.

Beach erosion, the Mission Beach amusement center lease and other matters, common problems of this area, were highlighted and discussed with Kiwanis members having definite questions.

Of special interest was the mention of extensive plans by the State Park commission and government planners for building two jetties and an extensive aquaculture area on the south side of Mission bay. This latter project must have long range planning with an extensive program of improvement for a large area.

Establishment of county camps to be run by the city-county camp commission were reported and it was hoped these would be running for the youth of the county before the summer sets in.

In closing his talk Mr. Austin reported that material is available with the harbor department to complete the Ocean Beach fishing pier, but this material will not be released until such time as need is not so critical as now. J. Don Keller, attorney of National City, accompanied the speaker to Ocean Beach and also was a guest of the club. Keller reported that he hoped to have Major Knox Manning and Captain Eugene Wallace as guests at the local club on next Tuesday evening.

John A. Titlow, prominent Ocean Beach real estate dealer and insurance man, was welcomed back into the club by Burritt S. Mills, after several years absence from the group.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

U. S. Heavy Bombers Blast Balkans, Hammer German Industries in France; Jap Forces Advance in India Theater; Congress Studies New Draft Problems

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

EUROPE: Aid Russ

With Allied troops in Great Britain poised for the jump into western Europe, U. S. bombers took to the air to blast the Balkans in conjunction with the Russian armies' advance into Rumania.

In the English Isles, an electrical tenseness was reported as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's high command was said to have set the zero hour, and Allied planes continued to roar over the channel to blast Nazi defenses and industries in France and Germany.

As the Russians edged toward the vital Rumanian oil fields of Ploesti, U. S. bombers thundered over the city from the south to blast railway tank cars filled for the long haul to western Europe. U. S. bombers also dropped explosives on aircraft factories and railroad yards of the Hungarian capital of Budapest.

In Italy, heavy artillery bombardments punctuated bitter ground sparring below Rome at Anzio and Cassino.

Psychological War

Leaving no stone unturned, the Allies have been showering Axis Europe with propaganda leaflets as well as bombs in an effort to undermine German morale and encourage underground resistance in occupied countries.

Flashy leaflets have told the Germans that their surrender during the last war left most of their industries intact, while continued resistance in this war will only result in the complete demolition of their factories. Other leaflets have condemned Nazi officials for failing to provide for evacuation of the civilian population from bombed areas.

Small newspapers dropped in France have informed the people of guerrilla activity, and of the Allied objectives in bombing Nazi targets in the country, while similar publications dumped over Holland have pointed up America's war effort and the heavy assaults on Berlin.

AGRICULTURE: Egg Supports

To bolster sagging egg markets, War Food Administrator Marvin Jones told a group of mid-western senators led by Senator Wherry (Neb.), that WFA planned to support prices by purchases of from 27 to 32 cents per dozen in distressed areas where handlers paid producers a minimum of 26 cents a dozen.

Declaring that the WFA's biggest problem was disposal of the eggs, Jones called upon the congressmen to support legislation for sale of perishable commodities below parity levels. At present, perishables cannot be sold at such prices until their evidence deterioration, with the result that rot often sets in, Jones said. If the civilian population would eat one more egg per week per person, the surplus egg problem would be largely solved, Jones added.

Although adequate storage space has been found for frozen eggs, Jones said, production has been influenced by manpower problems. Wherever possible, the government has increased its contracts for the product, he said.

Canadian Oats

Seeking to relieve the tight feed situation, the War Food administration has arranged for the importation of 20,000,000 bushels of Canadian oats by May 15 via rail and the Great Lakes.

Under the plan, U. S. railroads would immediately send 75 cars daily into the Canadian interior for the grain, with 25 more to be sent later, if domestic needs for the cars are not pressing. The rails would carry the oats to Duluth, whence they would be routed to Chicago and Toledo by boat. From 15 to 20 days generally would be required for the round trip, officials estimated.

Because competitive bidding between the two cities would bring Canadian grain above the U. S. price ceiling, the Commodity Credit corporation might purchase the oats directly from Canada for resale at lower prices in the U. S.

GOP:

Willkie Quits

Stormy petrel of the Republican party since 1940, big, blustery Wendell Willkie withdrew his bid for leadership of the GOP, while New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey was assuming the position through a popular draft.

Willkie's sudden demise and Dewey's ascension were occasioned by progressive Wisconsin's elections for delegates to the Republican national convention in Chicago, June 26. Although Willkie actively campaigned through the state, he failed to win even one delegate, while Dewey, who had asked that his name be withdrawn from the election, won 18.

Since Wisconsin has long been noted for its liberalism, Willkie deliberately selected it as the grounds for a test of Republican sentiment, basing his bid for delegates on a program for heavier war sacrifices and extensive U. S. cooperation in world affairs.

DRAFT:

26-29 Next

Both selective service and congress struggled over the problem of supplying the military services with younger men and maintaining record war production, with continued emphasis on shifting 4-Fs in unimportant work to essential occupations.

Referring to the decision to only defer key industrial and agricultural workers in the 18 to 25 age group, Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey declared that the same policy would next be extended to the 26 to 29 class.

In seeking to channel 4-Fs into necessary work, the house military affairs committee called upon selective service to obtain a list of essential occupations and manpower shortage areas for use in guiding the employment of 4-Fs, who would face induction into a labor battalion if failing to take vital jobs.

State Inductions

With 1,265,000 men, New York is scheduled to lead the states in the number of soldiers and sailors to be inducted by July 1, with Pennsylvania with 904,000, and Illinois with 700,000, ranking second and third.

Other states with high totals include California with 667,000; Ohio with 610,000; Texas with 554,000, and Michigan with 452,000.

Nevada with 11,000 is scheduled to contribute the smallest amount of men, with Wyoming and Delaware with 23,000, the next lowest.

PACIFIC:

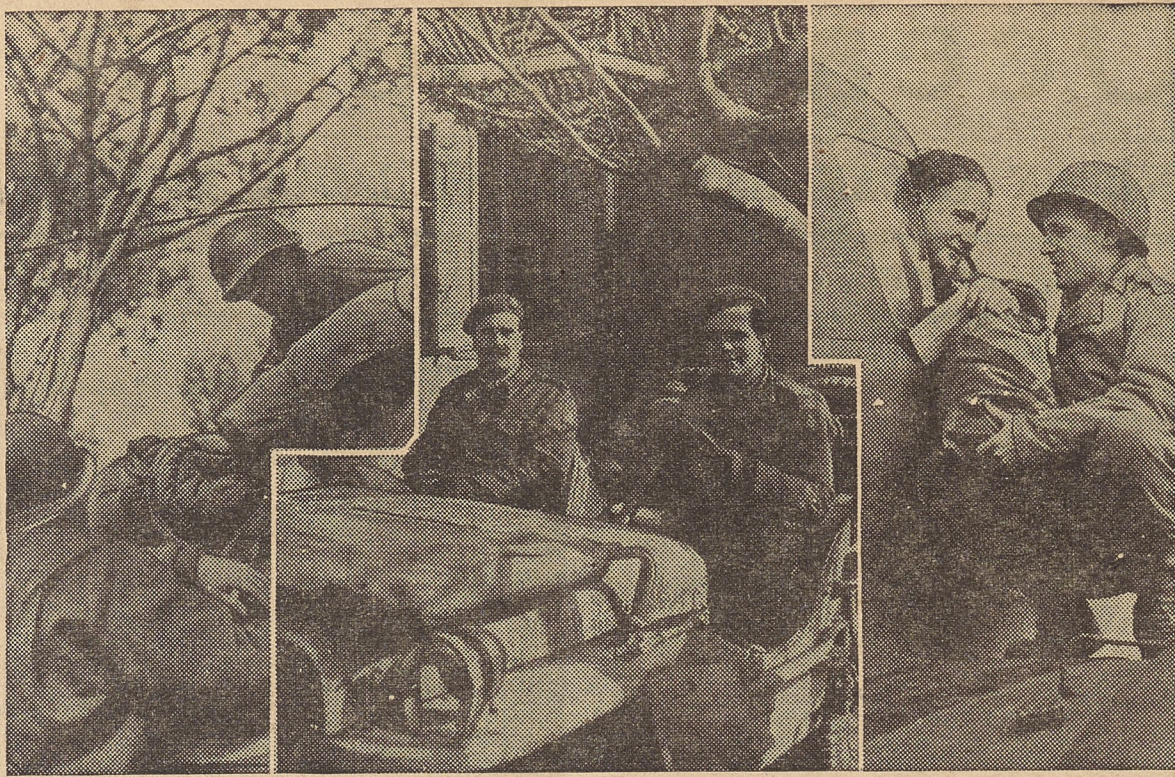

Eye Stilwell

While U. S. bombers continued to pummel Jap defense outposts in the Pacific, British troops strived desperately to check the enemy's stubborn advance toward the American operated Bengal-Assam railroad, 80 miles within India.

Working over the whole Jap outpost system in the Pacific, navy fliers pounded the enemy's storage and defense installations on Truk in the Carolines, while army airmen repeated heavy attacks on the Nips' supply base of Hollandia in New Guinea, feeder point for barges operating along the coastline.

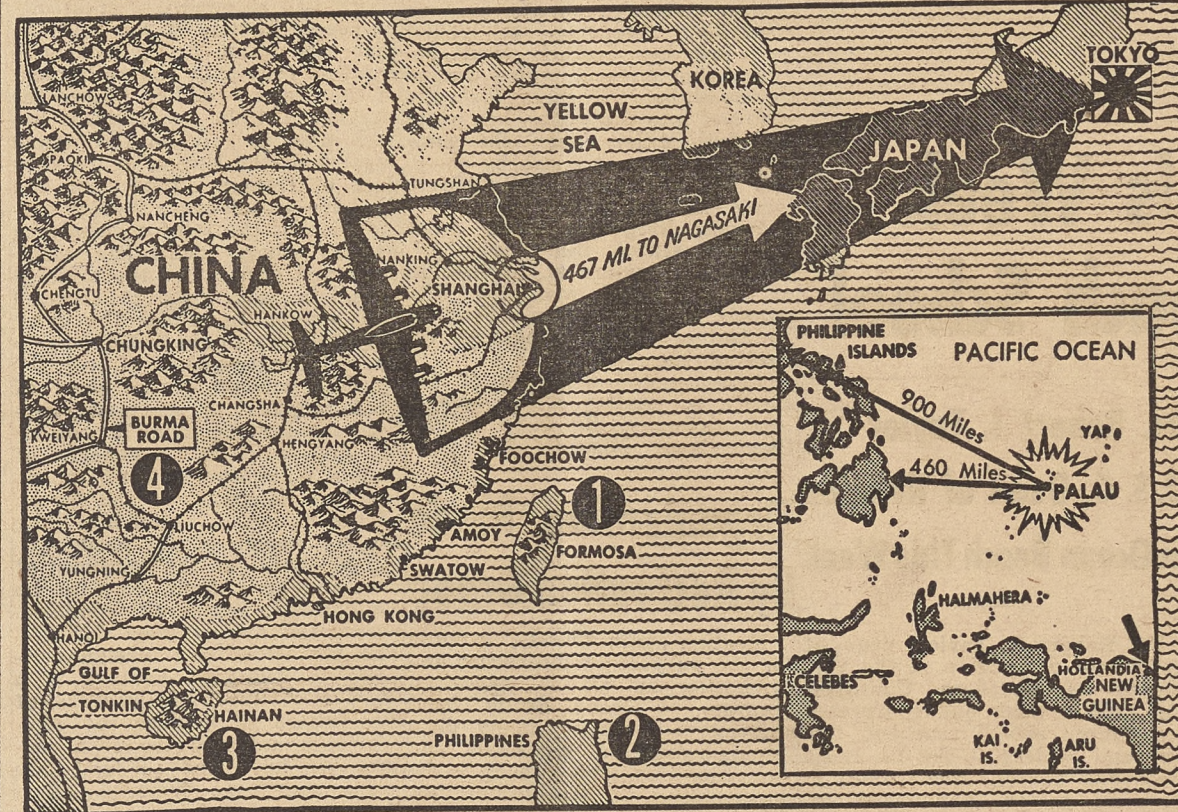

Seeking to cut the Assam-Bengal railway feeding Lieut. Gen. Joseph Stilwell's U. S.-Chinese troops fighting to carve out a new supply road to China in northern Burma, the Jap attack in India was concentrated in the rugged hills above Imphal.

Recommends 4-Fs for War Work

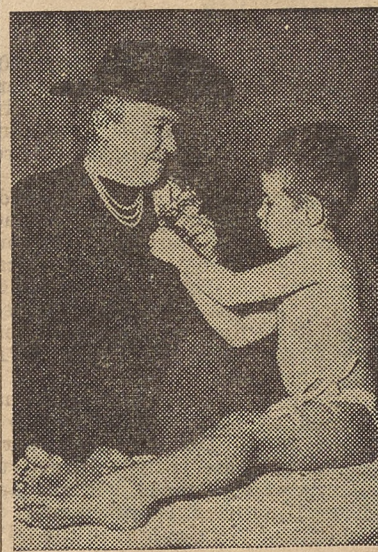

Appearing before a house military affairs committee, Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson recommended that 4-Fs not engaged in essential war work be inducted into the army enlisted reserve for assignment to civilian jobs. Photo shows, left, Ralph A. Soldier Insurance

A recent check of men going overseas showed them to be insured to the extent of 98.4 per cent of enlisted men and 99 per cent of officers. In the case of enlisted men, 90 per cent own the $10,000 maximum, and the average per soldier, including the uninsured, is $9,500. Officers reported 98 per cent own the $10,000 maximum and the average per officer is $9,864.

Damaged Ship

If a ship is damaged and sunk it will go all the way to the bottom, according to an official of the Shipbuilders Council of America, especially a ship of steel construction where water has found its way inside the ship and destroyed all its buoyancy. While it is sinking there is a little more pressure on the bottom of the ship than on the upper works "but the ship would not remain static under water unless there were an extremely delicate balance of buoyancy," he says, "which would never occur with a damaged ship that has started to sink."

In the case of a wooden ship, however, the buoyancy of the wood in the ship may be sufficient to keep it afloat but that would be on the surface or with some parts of the wooden hull still above water. A water soaked log is an example of the latter case.

A Lecture on Christian Science

Entitled
The New Heaven and the New Earth as Revealed by Christian Science

by Margaret Matters, C. S. B. of New York City

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts Delivered under the auspices of Sixth Church of Christ, Scientist, San Diego, Sunday, April 16th at 2:30 o'clock, in the edifice of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Second avenue and Laurel St. San Diego.

Introduction by Mr. Henry Holman former First Reader, who said:

Friends:
Sixth Church of Christ, Scientist welcomes you here today.
In behalf of Sixth Church, I wish to express gratitude for the use of this edifice and for the many courtesies extended to us by the members of First Church.

Today in a world at war more and more people are turning to God in prayer. They are seeking some way to find harmony, love, home, a new heaven and a new earth.

Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, asks in Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures, "Where shall the gaze rest but in the unsearchable realm of Mind?"

Mrs. Margaret Matters of New York City, a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., will speak to us today on "The New Heaven and the New Earth as Revealed by Christian Science." Mrs. Matters.

Christian Science brings a new heaven and a new earth to everyone who understands its Principle and applies its rules. Through it, heaven becomes a present state of harmony, health, and happiness, and earth expresses heaven's glories. This Science makes all that is really desirable worthy, and ideal possible of accomplishment. And how does Christian Science do this? By explaining God to us, thus making Him understandable, adorable, and demonstrable. Also, by making clear to us the true character—that is, the spiritual nature—of His creation, man and the universe.

In the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, God is defined as follows (p. 587): "God, the great I AM; the all-knowing, all-seeing, all-acting, all-wise, all-loving, and eternal; Principle; Mind; Soul; Spirit; Life; Truth; Love; all substance intelligence." Because God is our God, it is correct to say that God is our Mind, our Life, our Soul, our Principle, our Love, our substance and intelligence. All Christians unite in that prayer which begins, "Our Father which art in heaven." Then, with the clearer understanding of our Father, God, imparted by this definition, we can pray more intelligently for ourselves and others.

Suppose our life, or the life of a friend or dear one, seemed to be in danger, we could then turn to this declaration at the beginning of the Lord's Prayer, and substitute the name Life for Father, so that we would pray, "Our Life which is in heaven." It is generally believed that there is no disease in heaven, for heaven is a state of harmony.
Also, there is no hatred, no fear, no poisonous gas, and no destructive weapon in that heaven wherein is our Life. Heaven is that state of consciousness that knows Life as our Father, as the source of our being, as the maintainer of our existence. It is most certainly impossible for death to enter Life, to affect or influence it, for then God would immediately lose His nature or character as Life and would become His opposite, death.

And yet, most of us beings believe that this impossibility is possible, for they admit as real that which they cognize with the physical senses. These senses deceive at every turn, so we cannot trust them nor believe what appears to them to be real. Jesus refused to believe these senses, even when they informed him, and those about him, that the widow's son, Jairus' daughter, and his friend Lazarus, were dead. Nor did he accept the appearance of death, for he knew that God, Mind, Truth, Love, Principle, is our Life which is in heaven—in eternal harmony.

The thought may come to you that Jesus' ability to do these things was supernatural, and that his relationship to God as His Son was different from our relationship to God. But it was Jesus who taught us the prayer which begins with the words, "Our Father." He did not say, "My Father," but "Our Father," which makes ours and Jesus' relationship to God the same. This was recognized by John, who wrote, "He hold what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God." And he goes on to say, "Now are we the sons of God." Is it not a bit of heaven on earth to know that, now and here, we are the offspring, the outcome, the emanation of our Father, our Life, which is in heaven, in harmony?

Mrs. Eddy writes (Unity of Good,
p. 37): "Human beings are physically mortal, but spiritually immortal.
The evil accompanying physical personality is illusive and mortal; but the good attendant upon spiritual individuality is immortal. Existing here and now, this unseen individuality is real and eternal."

Man Is Not a Material Body

One of the most limiting and de-lusive of beliefs is that our life is in the material body whereas we live in our thinking, in true consciousness. Then consciousness must be our abiding place, our home, our land, our universe, our heaven.
When we accept this belief that we live in a material body, we are dwelling in the realm of dreams, in a state of deluded mortal consciousness, which Mrs. Eddy calls "the CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death," Paul's declaration to the Corinthians will be the Golden Text in the Sunday Lesson Sermon on "Probation after Death" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

"Be not thou therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner," writes Paul in his second letter to Timothy, "but be thou partaker of the afflictions of the gospel according to the power of God; Who hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began. But is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel."

Mary Baker Eddy says in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures": "Jesus said substantially, 'He that believeth in Me shall not see death.' That is, he who perceives the true idea of Life loses his belief in death." "Suffering, sinning, dying beliefs are unreal. When divine Science is universally understood, they will have no power over man, for man is immortal and lives by divine authority."

substratum of mortal mind" (Science and Health, p. 371). This mind dreams that it is conscious of sin, disease, and death, and it believes that it sees its dreams embodied, or materialized, in mortals.

The Biblical allegory about Adam, who went into a deep sleep and dreamed all sorts of impossible things—which seemed perfectly possible to him, as they always do to one in a dream state—is a graphic description of a material universe and a mortal man. Mrs. Eddy tells us that in this text in Genesis, the garden of Eden "stands for the mortal, material body" (Science and Health, p. 526). Adam dreamed that he had been put into a material body, and it seemed to him in his dream to be a beautiful garden, until he met that impossible creature, a talking serpent. Then Adam dreamed that Eve listened to the serpent, and that he, Adam, also listened to it talking through Eve. But he thought it was Eve talking, whereas she knew that such talk could not come from man, and that only something as impossible as a talking serpent could say such things.

However, in the dream the ser-pent's propositions sounded tempting to both Adam and Eve, so they decided to test the fruit that would enable them to know both good and evil. As God had not created evil, and therefore had no knowledge of it, they would then know more than God knew. Only in a dream state could they believe to believe that something exists which the all-knowing Mind, God, does not know, or did not create.
Only one in a dream or a deluded state of thought, could imagine that a knowledge of evil, of materialism, of a physical creation, could be of any benefit to man, could enlighten him, or make of him a god. And does this knowledge put man in bondage to all the ills that flesh is heir to, and it makes him a mortal as well—with a helpless beginning and a hopeless, doleful end.

Is not this the dream we are all dreaming? Are we not dreaming that we have been put into a material body which we must feed, dress, and keep, just as Adam dreamed that the Lord had put him in the garden of Eden "to dress it and to keep it"? Except that today we do not believe that it is the Lord who demands of us that we feed this body certain vitamins, keep it in certain climates, and exercise it. Nor do we believe that it is the Lord who requires of us that we ask the body whether we are able to go to business, eat our meals, or feel healthy. But we do think that these are requirements of material medicine, hygiene, custom, or tradition, which we must obey. Thus these material modes become the gods we worship and the fetters power to which we are in bondage.

God, who, according to the Bible, is "of purer eyes than to behold evil," could not bestow on man the ability to behold it—an ability God Himself does not possess. So, as this allegory brings out, it is a subtle, serpentine suggestion which claims that man can know evil. In the Adam-dream, the serpent had to give to its claims an appearance of the power of authority, so it said, "For God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil." Only in a dream could the lie seem true that God knows evil and that good can come through evil. And only in a dream could seem true this lie's resultant beliefs, that God sends or permits suffering, disease, and death, and that, in some unaccountable way, they can produce betterment.

If God sent disease and death, He would have the power to destroy them, for, in reason and in fact, the cause of disease and death cannot produce their cure. Only in a dream state does this seem possible. Mrs.
Eddy writes (Science and Health, p.
556): "Sleep is darkness, but God's creative mandate was, 'Let there be light.' In sleep, cause and effect are mere illusions. They seem to be something, but are not. Oblivion and dreams, no realities, come with sleep. Even so goes on the Adam-belief, of which mortal and material life is the dream."

If sleep is darkness, then the works of darkness are but dreams, and we need not fear them, flee from them, nor suffer from them.
The one thing we do need to do to awaken from them and behold the light of Truth, or that which is true about all things. Paul wrote to the Ephesians: "Have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them." But all things that are reprov-ed are made manifest by the light: for whatsoever doth make manifest is light. This has been said by Moffatt as follows: "Have nothing to do with the fruitless enterprises of the darkness, but rather expose them." Christian Science does expose the works or enterprises of darkness by showing them to be but illusions, dreams, false beliefs, errors, misapprehensions of truth, without substance, entity, or reality.

Error's Motive-Power

Today, the exposure of the works or enterprises of darkness is making their nature more clearly and generally understood. Many recognize that the use of human willpower to carry out unscrupulous designs, to exploit the baser instincts of the carnal mind, and mentally to invade nations and terrorize them with fear, must be overcome by weapons other than those employed in mere physical combat.

Quite evidently, a mental revolution, as well as human warfare, is going on today, and in the flux of this transitional state we are keenly cognizant of unhappy and discordant conditions. We hear of lack on every side, and we may well wonder what it is all about, as there is the same amount of land, sea, and air, and there are also the same seasons, mines, and metals, as there were in times past. And yet, mankind is engaged in apparently destroying itself through senseless carnage. As these basic material resources have not changed, this upheaval—its causes, purposes, and aims—must be wholly mental. What, then, is the mental state that is causing the war; and what is the mental or spiritual state that will cure it?

It must be evident to all that certain mental influences, such as dislike, hatred, envy, jealousy, or materialism, must be removed, or placed, and power, have moved from to physical combat; and that until these influences are disposed of, warfare of this sort will continue.
It must also be evident that such things as poison gas, bullets, and bombs cannot destroy these mental influences; rather are they increased and inflamed thereby. Logically considered, Love antedates hatred, Truth overcomes dishonesty, goodness dispels the evil of greed and lust, and the courage of intelligence eliminates fear.

Christian Science shows that the human will that would do evil cannot be met by another human will that would do good, as this would mean a conflict of wills. There is only one remedy, and that is to pray, "Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven." Mrs. Eddy has interpreted this to mean, "Enable us to know, as in heaven, so on earth,—God is omnipotent, supreme" (Science and Health, p. 17). We must utilize this divine will, which expresses God's omnipotence and is His law of good. The human will will produce evil claims to operate in the dark, unseen and unknown, until suddenly its effect is made evident in some injurious, discordant, or erroneous condition. It is not within the power of the human will to produce good, as God alone is good and is everywhere present. God, therefore, cannot be, and does not need to be, reproduced; rather must it be discerned and utilized. The understanding that there is but one will, one Mind, one influence, one power and presence, exposes the nothingness of the claim to a will, an influence, a mind or power apart from God.

The attempt to influence others through the use of the human will, either for good or evil, infringes the rights of man to be self-governed, and to do his own thinking according to divine Principle. In order to preserve the rights of man in the mental realm, we must understand the oneness of divine Mind as our Mind which is in heaven, in harmony, where it cannot be invaded nor influenced, for it is All, and besides it there is no other. Mrs.
Eddy writes (Science and Health, p. 490): "Will-power is but a product of belief, and this belief commits depravations on harmony. Human will is an animal propensity, not a faculty of Soul. Hence it cannot govern man aright. Christian Science reveals that the will-power is the motive-powers of man are Truth and Love, we shall be set free from the suggestion that will-power is motivating man, driving and controlling him, making him apathetic, blinding him to the error which is attacking him, causing him to scatter his fire, and to be so weighed down with inertia that he is unable to follow up, with a continuance of energetic, intelligent, spiritual activity, victories he may have already won. The Christian's warfare, which is the Christian Scientist's warfare, can only be won with the weapons of Truth, overthrow all the mental arguments of will-power, and bring "into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ," as Paul puts it.

"The land of Christian Science"

Many today are trying to find refuge from the evils of will-power by changing their geographical location and going to some place or land where there seems to be complete freedom from evil. But there is only one land where there is true security and peace, and this land is wholly spiritual and mental, so that we can enter it instantly through thought, irrespective of circumstance, condition, or place. This is the land of spiritual existence sought by Abraham, Moses, and the ancient seers, and each was admonished to "go in and possess." We also must take possession of this land through that thinking which acknowledges that God, good, alone governs. No lawless domination, or will-power can invade this land, for there is but one Mind here governing itself; and this self-government is expressed by man. There can be no lawless domination, or will-power, or domination in this land, or state of consciousness, because the one infinite Mind which is everywhere present includes all thought, and it is good. Mrs. Eddy beheld this land, or state of consciousness, and spoke of it as "the land of Christian Science, where fellowship and the rights of man are acknowledged and acknowledged" (Science and Health, pp. 226, 227).

What are some of these rights of man that are fully known and ac-knowledgeed in this land of Christian Science? Freedom to think and act according to divine Principle is one of these God-given rights. Freedom to know and do good, freedom to live that Life which is deathless, to live peaceably, to be useful, happy, healthy, radiant, strong, intelligent, are some of the rights of man that are fully known and acknowledged in this land of Christian Science.

The following Biblical statements are cited by Mrs. Eddy as setting forth the rights of man:
"Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion."
"Behold, I give unto you power ... over all the power of the enemy: and nothing shall by any means hurt you."
"If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death." Then comes the promise that man is the image and likeness of God; that he has the dominion of divine Life, Truth, and Love; every time we utilize our God-given power over the false, injurious influences of the human will, and give evidence that the convulsions of the carnal mind as manifested in war, disaster, sin, and disease, cannot hurt us, we are exercising the divine rights of man. It is our divine right to turn to our God, Mind, rather than to matter, as our medicine, as that which maintains us in health; for the Mind that creates man preserves him whole and harmonious.

According to the constitutional Bill of Rights in this country, it is the right of the people to be secure in their persons, their houses, papers, and effects. In the land of Christian Science, it is the right of man to maintain his house, or consciousness, as inviolable. Mrs. Eddy writes (The People's Idea of God, p. 11): "Above the platform of human rights let us build another staging for divine claims,—even the supremacy of Soul over sense, wherein man cooperates with and is made subject to his Maker."

One of man's inalienable rights is to love and to be loved by God and man. War is a denial of this right, for it claims the right of peoples to hate one another, and to express this hatred in the destruction of life itself. One way to exterminiate war is through exercising this right to love and to be loved by God and man, no matter what the material circumstances may appear to be. Mrs. Eddy writes (Science and Health, p. 571): "Glad in the panorama of Love, human hatred cannot reach you." This truth realized will protect mortals from becoming either the instruments or the victims of hatred. In Christian Science, war is treated in the same way as is disease—that is, by awaking from its mesmeric suggestions to the truth that God's harmony, love, and peace have been actually here on earth.

The forces of hell would make us believe that there is no oneness of Mind, nor of men. These forces would deny that we have one Father, divine Love; that we are brethren; that we love one another; and that we can be governed by the rules of Christianity, as given us in the Sermon on the Mount. We all envision a world in which peace reigns, and war shall be no more. In God's universe, which is the only real universe, there is no conflict, no war, taking place. But in order to attain this universe, or state of consciousness, we must prove that the evidence to the contrary is but a mesmeric state, an illusion.

Jesus said of the times when there would be "distress of nations," that men's hearts would be "failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth." And he added, "When these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads, for your redemption draweth nigh." If we keep our gaze and thought fixed on the things which are happening on earth, we are not going to be able to look up to Truth, or to what is happening in heaven, and behold its demonstration on earth.

In Christian Science we are not attempting to improve earth's condition by material means, but rather our effort to cease dreaming, by being awake to Truth, by taking possession of the land of Christian Science through that spiritual understanding which acknowledges God as our Father, and beholds men as the sons of God, as brethren who love and cherish one another and who express God one to the other.

The Close of Material History

Mrs. Eddy tells us that "material history is drawing to a close" (No and Yes, p. 45). The beliefs of a material world, a material man with a mortal history, are being superseded by the apprehension of a spiritual universe, and by the truth of man's being as the son of God.
The history of this son of God is written in the understanding and demonstration of spiritual being in the lives of men. Mrs. Eddy tells us (Christian Healing, p. 11): "We are in the midst of a revolution; physics are yielding slowly to metaphysics; mortal mind rebels at its own boundaries; weary of matter, it would catch the meaning of Spirit." Human modes, theories, practices, and events are working out their own destruction, for their day is waning; and they are being replaced by the Science of Mind, with its unfoldment of the true and eternal history of God, man, and the universe. This history is good, harmonious, healthful, and constructive. There is nothing in man's history of which he can be ashamed, that he needs to hide, to fear, or from which he should flee. His status with God is eternal perfection, and this status is recorded indelibly in consciousness, or as the Bible puts it, "in the book of life."

There have been various prophecies and prognostications about the end of the world, which is but another way of saying that material history is drawing to a close. Many have dreaded such a time, for the material world has seemed to them to be the reality, whereas spiritual consciousness, or the land of spiritual thoughts, has seemed distant and remote. To the Christian Scientist, the end of the world does not mean the destruction of people and things, but the destruction of a false sense of God, man, and the universe. Christian Science shows us that the end of materialism is to be welcomed, and that it can be brought about by translating all that is material into its spiritual original, about which the material is a lie. Matter is but a material misstatement about man and the universe, whereas the "new tongue" is the true spiritual statement about them. Mrs. Eddy says (Christian Healing, p. 7): "The new tongue" is the spiritual meaning as opposed to the material. It is the language of Soul instead of the senses; it translates matter into its original language, which is Mind, and gives the spiritual instead of the material signification."

If we know man as God knows him, we shall never lose him. Nel-ther sin, hatred, fear, disease, distance, nor death, hides man from God, and if we translate the material concept of man into the spiritual concept of him, we shall find that we include the right idea of him in our consciousness eternally.
When we translate the human concept of one another into the divine, we shall know one another as our divine Mind which is in heaven knows us, and we shall behold one another as the image of God, untouched by materialism, unswayed by sin, undisturbed by sickness, unobstructed and unstopped by death.

Competition in commerce, deceit in councils, dishonesty in nations, dishonesty in trusts, begin with "Who shall be greatest."
—Mary Baker Eddy.

Be willing to pass for what you are. A good farthing is better than a bad sovereign. — Samuel Coley.

The diligent fostering of a candid habit of mind, even in trifles, is a matter of high moment both to character and opinions.—Howson.

Each time we translate the material concept of man and the universe into Mind, the end of some worldly belief, with its material history, takes place. Every false earth-born belief must be replaced by a radiant truth.

In Christian Science we learn that, as more and more of our divine Mind or Being which is in heaven becomes apparent here, harmony replaces discord, joy conquers sorrow, and heaven is revealed on earth.
Earth is today alight with heaven's glow; and that, because through the ages there have been human beings who have been awake to its effulgence, and have dared to walk in the Christ-light which has illumined their consciousness. The spiritual thinking of these individuals has made the clear transparencies for the revelation of the Christ, Truth.

The human being, whose consciousness was the clearest transparency for the Christ, Truth, was Jesus. This identified him with the Christ, so that he is known as Christ Jesus; and the radiance of his example has made him the Way-shower.
He showed us the way to heal, the way to love, the way to teach, preach, and prove God. And finally, by laying down his mortal life, he was able to show us that material history is not brought to a close by death and the grave. He rose above these, and even after his resurrection he continued teaching and revealing to his students the nature of God and man. When he had completed his work by translating every material belief into its spiritual truth, the senses could no longer behold the glory of the divine Love and Life which he continued to express.
Thus there was no longer any material history to record, for the son of man had been completely translated into the Son of God, who dwelleth forever in heaven.

The Little Book

Although Jesus was able to show us the way in the three short years of his public ministry, nevertheless he did not teach the rules and Science of his works. John, in recording the revelation of Jesus Christ, told what the further amplification of this Truth would be, when he wrote: "I saw another mighty angel come down from heaven, . . . and he had in his hand a little book open. . . . And I took the little book out of the angel's hand, and ate it up. . . . And he said unto me, 'Thou must prophesy again before many peoples, and nations, and tongues, and kings.'"

It is evident from this that Truth was to appear again through a book which was to be studied, digested, and understood; or, as the Revelation put it, to be eaten up. Christian Scientists believe that this book has appeared in this age, and that it is entitled "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," written by Mary Baker Eddy. It contains the truth about God and man, so that those who really eat it up—digest it, understand it, and are healed, comforted, and enlightened. It reveals a new heaven and a new earth to those who are suffering, sinning, or dying. The truth it contains opens blind eyes, and unstops deaf ears, restores happiness to homes, and shows that good, God, has indeed visited His people. Also, through this book, the way has unfolded whereby each one may learn how to obey Jesus' command, "Heal the sick, raise the dead, cleanse the lepers, cast out demons." This command appears as the motto on the seal placed on the cover of every textbook written by Mary Baker Eddy.

As a book shows forth the thinking of its author, you will be able to discern the character of Mary Baker Eddy as you read this book.
You will also be blessed by the purity, intelligence, spirituality, and originality which she has brought to the recording of her discovery.
Like thousands of others who have already studied it, your heart will go out in gratitude to the selfless, noble woman who wrote it. Mrs.
Eddy once wrote to a clergyman who was desirous of meeting her personally, "Those who look for me in person, or elsewhere than in my writings, lose me instead of find-me" (The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany, p. 120).

As you read the Christian Science textbook, it will be clear to you that its author is one of the pure in heart who has seen God, and who has been able to impart her vision to others. You will also realize that she loved God's law and lived it, and that only one who was inspired by Love, and sustained by the might of Mind, could have given such a message to a world whose thinking along the lines of Science, theology, and medicine was in direct opposition to her discovery.
Christian Scientists are not unduly concerned with the personality of Mrs. Eddy, but they joyously obey the following Biblical injunction in Proverbs with regard to a woman of virtue: "Give her of the fruit of her hands; and let her own works praise her in the gates."

Through this little book, each one is fed with glorious mental pictures or spiritual ideas, with ideas that satisfy, heal, comfort, and sustain, revealing the new heaven and new earth as here and now, within individual consciousness. It voices the tender plea that was voiced centuries ago, "Behold, I stand at the door, and knock; if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me." The door is your consciousness. Open it, that you may behold a new heaven and a new earth.

are. A good farthing is better

"The flowers appear"

"FOR, lo, the winter is past, the rain is over and gone; the flowers appear on the earth; the time of the singing of birds is come" (The Song of Solomon 2:11, 12). These lyrical lines announce the season when all the earth is renewed and even the birds rejoice in the transformation. Do they not also symbolize that springtime of the heart when one rejoices in the dawn of fresh hope and faith, and the disappearance of oppression and evil?
One need not await a change of season, however, to experience a revival in his thinking.

St. Paul says (Romans 12:2):
"Be not conformed to this world, but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God." How is this resurrection of human thinking to be brought about? By turning humbly to God and letting Him govern our thoughts, our desires, our whole lives. God's will for all is harmony and well-being. How important it is, then, to watch our thoughts to see that they are not conforming to mere worldly standards but are pleasing to God. . . .

A little boy who had won first place in a flower-growing contest, on account of his large and beautiful specimens, was asked how he had raised such blossoms; for it was known that he had only a small and infertile plot on which to grow them. He answered simply, "I saw the blossoms when I planted the seeds." How well this illustrates what Jesus meant when he said (Matthew 13:3), "Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven!" A pure, childlike trust in God, good, brings harmony into our lives.

PRE-INVASION BATTLE

A pre-invasion battle between the United Nations and the Nazis is now in full swing—in neutral countries. The United States and Britain are bringing strong diplomatic pressure to bear on Sweden, Turkey, Spain and Portugal to sharply reduce or eliminate entirely their shipments of strategic materials to Germany. In this way the Allies hope to further weaken Hitler's war machine before the cross-channel push begins. How much success they will have in shutting off these supplies remains to be seen. The Nazis are making vigorous efforts to counteract the moves and have warned the neutrals against withdrawing their economic support of the Reich. In recently renewing her trade pact with Germany, Sweden reduced the amount of iron ore, steel and ball-bearing deliveries. However, the Swedes must depend upon Germany for coal. Thus they are in no position to cut away entirely, especially since the Allies could not supply the needed fuel if they did. The other neutrals are also economically dependent on Germany to some extent. The neutrals are not in the fight, but they are right in the midst of the cross fire.

POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

A rapid re-suffling of political decks is going on, both in California and the Nation at large, as a consequence of Wendell L. Willkie's spectacular play in bowing out of the Republican presidential contest.

The picturesque, unorthodox author of "One World," who carried the G.O.P. flag in 1940, dropped a political bombshell that literally echoed round the world when he made his now famous speech at Omaha, withdrawing from the 1944 race for the Republican nomination for President.

Nationally, the immediate effect of Mr. Willkie's action, coming on the heels of the Wisconsin primary, was a sharp upsurge of sentiment for Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, with many political commentators predicting that Dewey will now win the Republican nomination on the first ballot at the Chicago convention.

That reaction, however, may be tempered by later developments. While Willkie has bowed out as a G.O.P. candidate, he might be a considerable factor as the backer of another candidate. And there is an uneasy feeling in some Republican quarters that he might bolt and lead a third party movement, if the G.O.P. should nominate a candidate whose views on the international situation are unsatisfactory to him.

Democratic strategy, undoubtedly, will be centered on an attempt to make the Republican Party appear to be the party of isolationism, as a result of Willkie's failure to sell his bill of goods to the electorate. Republican strategy, on the other hand, will be to make the Democratic Party appear to be the party of starry-eyed internationalism, as personified by Vice President Wallace, while putting the G.O.P. on middle ground.

Governor Earl Warren's chance of emerging as the Republican candidate for President, which hinged largely on the possibility of a deadlock between the major contenders, appears to have lessened as a result of Willkie's withdrawal. Controversely, his chance of becoming the nominee for Vice President has been strengthened, as Dewey, now the admitted favorite for top spot, is said to look with great favor on Warren as his running mate.

SOLDIER STUDENTS

American soldiers are attending English "public schools." Groups from the United States Army are living with the students at Eton, Christ's Hospital and Charter House, sharing their dormitories, games, meals and discipline. Special courses on the political and social problems of Britain and the Empire have been provided for the men in place of the normal school subjects. The arrangements—a week for each group—were made because the Americans were interested in these British institutions.

The Red Cross
In Ocean Beach

By ONA E. PITCOCK

Ladies have asked me why the Red Cross made dresses, skirts, blouses and sun suits. Just now we have had a tornado on the east coast. Several months ago we had floods in Oklahoma and Texas. Now the Mississippi river is running rampant. When homes are swept away and big fires cause damage and train wrecks happen, then the Red Cross goes into action immediately and it takes many hundreds of garments. We have to have large stores of articles needed. Also they will be needed when the invasion takes place to help those who have been under Hitler's heel.

When the Easter cookie boxes went in to the Tarawa wards a Red Cross worker was there in civilian clothes just to see the reactions of our boys. She was amazed. All talked at once and were delighted and so pleased. Sunday when the messages came through from Tokio there were only two letters. Both boys thanked the Red Cross for the packages received for Christmas but Albert Selsenthal of 4816 Palmaria st., Los Angeles, said before he gave his letter he wanted to thank everyone who had given to the Red Cross War Fund as only God could know how much comfort and pleasure the Red Cross brought them.

All who have linen or table cloths that they will donate to the Chaplain's Service please do so. This linen is made into altar cloths that go with our boys into the front lines. They are used by chaplains of all denominations. Most people use mats now so please give what you can. Last week the center made two large cloths in a hurry-up order.

Our boys need clothes hampers badly, the kind that have the cross piece for pants. You who have beach umbrellas let the boys at the hospitals have them. These boys have been confined in the hospitals a long time and are now able to be out in wheel chairs but need the protection from the sun. Don't keep these things where dust and moths can destroy them but give them where they will help to win this terrible war and help bring our men home. Out of 32 boys in one landing party only two came home and they both are wounded. These were at Tarawa.

Tuesday is always cookie day and on Mother's Day we want plenty; also red and white carnations.

Don't forget about calling F. 7704 and set a time to donate your blood. This is so very necessary.

All having bits of yarn please bring to the center to be used for making toe socks.

We have a new worker at the center, Mrs. Parker. She certainly is a great help.

One of the active workers, Mrs. Pressley of Mission Beach, has sent in several beautiful jeep robes and she now receives her Red Cross pin. There are many women from Mission Beach working through Mrs. Mac Heidbrink's group.

Call B-5639 and see how you can help.

NAVY MOTHERS CLUB

Sunset Cliff Navy Mothers Club 151 entertained members and friends at a benefit luncheon on Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Eileen Stone. Mrs. Lee McCellan was co-hostess.

Cmdr. Echo Howard, at Tuesday's business meeting, gave an interesting report on the convention, which opened with our motto, "Let the Peace of God Rule Our Hearts."

A bill was passed that all mothers with daughters in the Navy, Marines and Coast Guard, are eligible for membership in the Navy Mothers clubs of America.

Taxpayers Association Reports Extra Dividends To Elementary Schools

San Diego county elementary school districts got an extra dividend of $202,087 of state money under the terms of 1943 legislation, by which the legislature raised the minimum salary of elementary teachers from $1,320 to $1,500 a year and increased state aid to the elementary schools from $1,400 to $1,570 per teacher unit, the schools subcommittee of the joint legislative committee on state tax structure, studying the results of the 1943 legislation, found.

"Only $17,753 was actually needed to bring all elementary teachers salaries in the county up to the state minimum," study by the committee shows. This means the school districts in the county got $184,334 more than was needed to comply with the minimum salary provision. The total apportionment by the state to the elementary schools in the county for 1943-44 was $2,286,777.

Over the state, $4,203,421 of additional state money was apportioned this year, with only $397,147 actually needed to bring all elementary teachers' salaries to the $1,500 minimum. The state paid school districts $3,806,274 more than was needed to comply with the changed law. Total apportionment for the elementary schools was $46,651,293 for 1943-44.

Swift-Sprinting Ostrich

Man is proud of his speed, but nature makes him look like a snail. The ostrich has been known to sprint 60 miles an hour and can pull a sulky almost as fast as a crack pacer.

Over a short distance, the cheetah, a leopard, is the fastest four-legged animal alive. In London it was clocked at 70 miles an hour. Almost unbelievable is the speed attributed by scientists to an insect called the deer fly, 818 miles an hour.

The despised flea, best jumper for its size on earth, can spring 200 times its own length. A human being would have to jump a quarter of a mile to match it.

When Your Back Hurts—

And Your Strength and Energy Is Below Par

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood. You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder. There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won countrywide approval than on something less favorably known. U. S. Businessmen Try To Define Free Enterprise

Chamber of Commerce Officials Inaugurate Education Campaign Designed to Teach Specific Phase of Democracy.

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building Washington, D.C.

In the last few weeks in Washington—and in London, too, for that matter—there has been a crescendo demand for an explanation of our foreign policy, and it is reported that a similar cry is going up from the soldiers at the front—What are we fighting for?

Secretary Hull attempted an answer not too satisfactory to his critics. There will be further official efforts at elucidation. But at least one brass-tacks institution whose headquarters is in Washington has come to the conclusion that before we can understand what we are fighting for, we must have a better understanding of what we think we want to fight for. Everybody on the allied side claims that democracy is the common ground upon which all stand but there is considerable difference as to how each one defines democracy.

Leaving the broader international aspects for a moment, I want to report a unique campaign of education whose purpose is to find out just what is meant by one specific phase of democracy about which we hear a great deal, namely, "free enterprise." This organized effort is being promulgated by the one group whose members use that term most frequently.

And, as their leaders admit, frequently don't know its meaning and often do not even subscribe to it—the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Before me, I have a document from which I want to quote five lines:

"Said one newspaperman to another: 'I'd fall dead if I found a businessman who wasn't in favor of free enterprise.'"

"Replied the other: 'I'd fall dead if I found a businessman who really wanted it.'"

The document quoted from is not a communist pronouncement—it is "The Economic Sentinel" printed by the United States Chamber of Commerce, and it is just part of an educational effort on the part of this body of businessmen, whose objective is (I'm quoting from another pamphlet published by the Chamber of Commerce):

"To develop in every community a group of leaders who really understand, and who can explain and who can convincingly advocate the economic system of free, private, competitive enterprise, or to put it another way, American enterprise."

An Important Discovery

The campaign of education among the Chamber's own members has been going on for some time but the general public didn't realize what was happening until they heard Eric Johnston, the president of the chamber, make a speech early in March, copies of which, I am told, are still in great demand.

Mr. Johnston criticized labor but for every one of the "seven deadly sins" which he said labor had committed, he confessed a parallel sin committed by business.

Johnston, in making this speech and in his subsequent writings and utterances, is practicing what his organization has been preaching in the campaign they are now carrying on through the chamber's department of governmental affairs in Washington.

They provide a program which their local chapters can follow, telling how to organize discussion groups, which they point out, should include public officials, ministers, professional men and women and—believe it or not—they strongly recommend the (paid) assistance of a college professor. The purpose is the understanding of that democratic principle—free enterprise.

It was from the document compiled by one of these doctors of philosophy, Dr. V. O. Watts, economic counsel of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, for such group guidance from which I was quoting.

For and Against

If confession is good for the soul, the soul of business in Olympia, Washington (where the quoted lecture was given), must be hale and hearty after hearing Dr. Watts declare:

"A city chamber of commerce opposes restrictions which neighboring towns sometimes place on deliveries of merchandise by city merchants and truckers. Yet the same organization is likely to help erect similar barriers against out-of-state or out-of-town enterprise which might compete with its own industries or merchants."

"Businessmen dislike restrictive policies of farmers and labor unions. Yet many of them say that free competition among themselves would be ruinous. So they lobby for measures to restrict business competition and to legalize price-fixing by government or by their own organizations."

"Chambers of commerce frequently join the clamor for un-economic local projects of the state or federal government on the ground that 'other places are getting theirs; why shouldn't we get ours?' Such chamber of commerce socialism leads to increased tax burdens which correspondingly restrict markets and jobs in free enterprise."

This is the kind of strong medicine which the United States Chamber of Commerce recommends the average American to absorb so that "free enterprise" may be understood. Here is another sample of straight-from-the-shoulder talk:

"Recent corrosions of economic liberty in the United States are not due to the efforts of a few communists or fascists. Instead they chiefly come from the fact that so many of us care only about our own liberties and are indifferent or even hostile to possession of similar liberties by others of our fellow citizens. In fact, for a momentary gain in higher prices, higher wage rates or government favors, many of us are willing even to sell our own freedom."

I wish I might quote further but space does not permit it for goes without saying that real "free enterprise," its virtues and its benefits, are expounded in great detail. But this is enough to show you a surprising degree of frankness, a remarkable willingness to think. It is something when the very people who often are loudest in their accusation that "free enterprise" is being destroyed by Tom, Dick, Harry, John (Lewis) et alia, are willing to admit that they, themselves, may be enemies of free, competitive enterprise.

Hitting the Trail
When Eric Johnston arose and declared that labor and management must "hit the sawdust trail together," he started something. But actually he was only carrying on something which his organization—I don't know whether he was the chicken or the egg—had already started. It is a process by which businessmen (and in businessmen, the farmer is included for he is a mighty important part of the American free enterprise system) can get an understanding of what the American system of economic democracy really is and then see whether they are really supporting this American system or not.

I have no idea how successful Mr. Johnston and his colleagues will be but I know some of them are enthusiastic enough to believe that he has rendered a service which makes him eligible as a contender for the job of keynoter at the Republican National convention in June and some are even optimistic enough to provide themselves with curry combs just in case they might be called upon to groom a dark horse for the presidential race.

But politics aside, there is cause for rejoicing when anybody sets out to try to define at least one phase of the thing we are supposed to be fighting for and to do some thinking about it. As Leonard Read, general manager of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, said just a few weeks ago:

"We have come to the conclusion that the best contribution we can make to the thinking in our country is to improve our own thinking." Amen to that.

BRIEFS... by Baukhage

U. S. expenditures for war purposes hit a new high in February—$7,808,000,000, as compared with $7,416,000,000 in January, an increase of 5.3 per cent.

The cabinet of Premier Hideki Tojo has decided to postpone the elections of prefectural town and village assemblies for one year until September, 1945.

Approximately 1/3 of the 112,000 people of Japanese ancestry evacuated from the West coast to relocation centers two years ago are now living and supporting themselves outside the centers.

From 90,000 to 120,000 gallons of water must be distilled every day on a modern battleship for use by the men and machinery.

Fabric-Wise Women Insist That Their Washables Be Color-Fast

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

NOW that the "make your own" hobby is gaining momentum right along, the challenge has come to women who sew to know their fabrics. This is as easily done as said, for nowadays a fabric is known by the guarantee label it carries. So look to your labels, ladies, when buying materials and you won't have to repeat that time-worn question, "Does it wash?"

Now that enthusiasm is so rampant in regard to home sewing, interest in fabrics is soaring to a new high. And well it may, for after you have put in time and effort and stitches 'twould be a sorry plight indeed to find that your energy has been wasted on poor material that fails to make the grade in respect to color-fastness and non-shrinkable virtues.

Added to the charm and fascination of the winsome fashions shown here is the fact of the dependability of the everfast fabrics of which they are made. Such combinations as the red chambray bodice with white dirndl skirt, as shown to the left, is perfectly color-safe and you'll admit it's charming to a point beyond all the eloquent adjectives one might be tempted to use to describe it.

This season, washable black cottons make their appearance along with color mixtures, as in the two-piece centered above in the group. Its artful styling reflects peasant inspiration. The skirt ties on with a black drawstring sash. The plaid gingham used for the neck scarf comes in pink, yellow or green with black markings.

Speaking of the new vogue for black wash fabrics, the smartest dressed women are quite taken with the idea of town suits made of black washable shantings and linen-finish weaves. Highlighted with snovy white eyelet embroidery edgings the black cotton costumes are the best looking ever. There is a fad also for black sateen pinafores both for children and grown-ups.

The young bride who likes to do her own marketing but prefers to skip the home laundry complex, can send such cottons as the flowered waffle pique used for the making of the dress shown to the right, to any boom-town laundry, knowing it will come back fresh and unfaded. Being an everfast fabric that is both suds and sun-proof, it won't shrink over 2 per cent at the most. Here you see this gay flower patterned cotton styled in a simple market or picnic dress with a pocket made of one of the gorgeously colorful blossoms cut from the print and appliqued on the bodice.

Fancy turns to cottons for all-purpose wear this year more so than ever. Checked and plaid ginghams, always gay-colored favorites, are being made up into stunning town suits and dresses with a styling that is as sophisticated as that usually associated with stereotyped wool suitings. Then too, ginghams are making a big fashion name for themselves by taking on glitter in form of colorful sequins or jet highlights as blithely they go to dinner dance and to summer evening parties.

The new pinafore dresses flaunt eye-thrilling glazed chintz as gay as a summer flower garden in full bloom. All white cottons also score in a number of weaves, prominent among which are eyelet effects and plaques. Loved beyond words are the new bordered effects that plant huge roses on white and pastel monotone backgrounds.

Color-Bright Tweed

Suits and coats have gone dramatically color-conscious this spring. You will not be over-doing it no matter how striking a color you choose for your tweeds or your gabardines, or any of the smart wools that go to make up your suits and ensembles. The picture presents a new version of a chic coat and skirt twosome. It is tailored of a nubby tweed in a delectable turquoise shade. The little detachable cape is its important talking feature in that the coat can be worn with or without it. Capes are big news this season. Sleeveless dresses have wee little shoulder capes and new cape suits are tres chic.

Black Satin for Hat, Shoes, Everything

New in the mode is the use of black satin for everything from hats to shoes including in the list gloves and handbags. Worn with bright printed frocks or pastel wools there's a refreshing newness about this style trend that is most welcome. Then too, brief coats of the topper or Mandarin type rank high in fashion. It is predicted that they will be smartly in vogue this summer. The black satin suit is having many calls this spring. With its snowy frills lace will be worn. Pink-tinted lace collar and cuff sets are also effective. Frequently the trim little jacket is fastened with elaborate jewelry-like buttons. The black satin in beret is perhaps the trimm little hat of the season. The black satin or of satin is excellent style. With gloves to match this ensemble adds the perfect note to either the suit or a gay-colored frock.

Bolero Suits in Navy

Teamed with White, Pink

It's turning out to be a big navy season. Bolero suits in navy are outstanding in the spring fashion picture. These team up with the new snowy frilly neckwear and blouses to perfection. However, the big news is that pink hats, pink neckwear and pink gloves are the smart accompaniment to navy costumes. To complete the ensemble they are showing large handbags either drawstring or envelope type made of kidskin dyed in the new tissue pink.

Berets and Sailors

Your new beret or tiny sailor, to get the right fashion slant, must be worn at a rakish angle, especially the beret which shows the hair at one side of the head and almost conceals it at the other. The new sideline hats are quite a sensation and they are very flattering.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Fold sweaters carefully and keep them stored in a drawer so they keep their shape.

Thin old blankets are useful as an interlining for a child's coat or a baby's bunting, as an ironing board pad, or as slencer cloths for dining-room table.

Perhaps you can make that felt hat look new and smart by blanket-stitching around the edge of the brim with crochet thread in a contrasting color. Or a narrow crocheted edging might do the trick.

Your sewing thread isn't so apt to knot if you use the correct length, say about 18 inches or the distance from the middle finger to the elbow.

Don't hang feather pillows in the sun as sunlight draws out the natural oil from the feathers and makes them less pliable.

A wornout umbrella can be stripped and its frame put to use as a rack for drying smaller items of clothing. Wind strips of cloth around the ribs to prevent rust.

MORALE

By Rufus T. Strohm

Dean, International Correspondence Schools

THE Armed Forces Institute is an organization created by the Army and the Navy to give correspondence courses to their men. The Air Corps, the Coast Guard and the Marine Corps have similar "institutes." Most of the students are fitting themselves for post-war jobs, and the officers in charge will tell you that the chief reason for the institutes is morale.

It would be a startling idea to many old-timers that a chance to study accounting or tool making would make a man a better fighter. Yet professional soldiers, who have commanded troops both in the last war and in this one, call the American youngster of today the greatest fighting man the world has ever seen. And that youngsters' officers believe that study builds his morale.

The Webster says morale means "condition as affected by or dependent on, such moral or mental factors as zeal, spirit, hope, confidence, etc." If a man develops an interest, he has zeal. If he feels he's getting somewhere, he has spirit. If he has the means of progress in his hands, he has hope. If he has "know-how," he has confidence. All those things he gains from study.

A New York Herald Tribune dispatch from London reports that an officer who was in the African and Sicilian campaigns said, "We found down there that what we call buo morale had direct bearing on combat morale, and you would be surprised to know how eagerly a considerable proportion of the men wanted to go to school."

On the home front as well as on the battle front, there are many who worry about a postwar job. There are others who do something about it, and they are the ones who build morale. Those who use a part of their spare time for study not only assure their own future but also develop a spirit that is as contagious as measles or a song hit.

In the matter of morale, everyone helps or hinders. The army and navy have discovered that those who study are among those who help.

Veterans Endorse Jeanette Daley

The Veterans Non-Partisan committee recently unanimously endorsed the candidacy of Jeanette E. Daley for Congress.

At a meeting over which Capt. Homer Hacker, prominent veteran leader, and president of the committee, presided, the organization, representing members from all veterans groups, voted to endorse Mrs. Daley for eight reasons.

In addition to Capt. Hacker the endorsement was signed by Carl F. Behrens, vice-president; Lester M. Nichols, secretary, and Loyal McLaughlin, treasurer.

In describing the reasons behind the endorsement, the committee said:

"Mrs. Daley is more than a Republican or a Democrat, she is a real American, and she believes in the kind of America that our forefathers died to create for us—the kind of an America that we have defended with our blood and wish to hand down to our children and posterity, as opposed to 'cockeyed Communist or socialist form of government.'"

Recalling Mrs. Daley's fight against Olsonism, the endorsement said:

"It was through her efforts that the non-partisan bloc was formed in the California legislature, which prevented Olson's wild ideas and saved California from chaos. In our opinion, she is the only candidate with the necessary legislative experience for Congress."

The veterans also praised Mrs. Daley's successful efforts for the correction of "deplorable conditions" at the California Home for Veterans at Yountville during her six years in the legislature.

Mrs. Daley's pledge to support legislation for the "best hospitalization, rehabilitation and jobs for our returning veterans and proper care for their widows and orphans" also received the plaudits of the committee.

The committee also cited Mrs. Daley's staunch stand to outlaw wartime strikes as another reason for its endorsement, as well as her position in support of "honest labor which is just as honest and conscientious, and loyal American citizens willing to make sacrifices to win the war."

Mrs. Daley's firm stand for private enterprise—the American Way of Life—was another reason for the veterans' approval, and the final point was her pledge to fight for any post-war funds which may be available to "help erect a suitable war memorial for San Diego county."

AMERICAN HEROES BY LEFF

Seriously wounded by an exploding grenade, Marine Gunner Angus R. Goss of Tampa, Florida, braved point-blank enemy fire to charge an enemy machine gun emplacement in a cave. Single handed, he wiped out Japanese gunners and snipers with a sub-machine gun, saving the lives of his unit. THE STORY THUS FAR: Lieut. Col. Frank Kurtz, pilot of a Flying Fortress, tells of that fatal day when the Japs struck in the Philippines. Eight of his men were killed fleeing for shelter and Old 99, with many other Fortresses, was demolished before it could get off the ground. After escaping to Australia, what is left of the squadron flies to Java where they go out on many missions over the Philippines. Six Fortresses go on a mission over Macassar Strait where there is a huge concentration of Jap ships. They make their bomb runs and on the return trip Major Robinson's plane goes into a dive and crashes into the sea. U. S. planes circle over the dead Queen.

CHAPTER XIII

"I now watched this last four falling through what was practically a striped fog made by Jap pom-poms coming up at us. We could see the Japs crowding the rails, trying to jump overboard as the bombs gathered speed. The first bomb plunked into the water alongside, but the other three went smack! smack! smack! right down what had been her promenade deck, and it looked like she was coughing up into the sky a kind of confetti made up of planking splinters and Jap infantry. My right wing man, who was releasing his bombs synchronized with me, scored four hits across the back of this ship.

"You ought to hear Beardshear, our tail gunner, tell about it. Not having any Zeros to keep him busy, he was enjoying the scenery and playing 'Yankee Doodle' on the deck planking with his .50-calibers. He says we passed over so close that he looked down the funnels, and he called to us over the interphones that he could see what they were going to have for chow—rice and fish heads. Then we made our turn, and went on back to Batavia, which was crowded with refugees from Singapore.

"About this time," said Frank Kurtz, "I got word from the Colonel that at last some American P-40 fighters were on their way up from Australia, equipped with belly tanks so they could take it in hops, landing for fuel at Kupang airdrome on Timor Island. It was part of my liaison job to get them settled with the Dutch fighters at their airdrome at Gnorro. It was another beautifully hidden field. The Dutch had to lead them to it with an escort plane.

"When they landed I found there were nine, led by my old friend Major Bud Sprague, whom I hadn't seen since the Philippines. I asked him where Buzz Wagner was, and he said Buzz just hadn't been lucky. They'd told them in Australia that one of them had to stay behind and give the newly arriving fighter pilots a little extra training, while the other would lead the squadron in Java. Buzz and Bud had tossed an Australian shilling to decide it, and Buzz had lost; he was stuck with that training job.

"The Dutch fighter pilots, who are just as prancy as ours, were all excited and doing their stuff. They'd led Bud in formation, and now they were putting on a show for him. They'd dive onto the field in an attack string, and just before they hit, they turned almost straight up in the air and then, a few thousand feet up, that string opened out in all directions like the petals of a rose.

"Bud had to admit the Dutch were good. But he said he had to take one of his planes up for a test that afternoon and show 'em how to fly. "Bud hit it off with them right away. He praised the camouflage on their field. When he came back next day, I heard him take his own youngsters in hand. Of course it was the old hokey, but he gave them one serious warning.

"This is the best-camouflaged field we'll ever operate on," he told them, "so remember—I don't want anyone to cross this field with a Zero on his tail. Bail out, beach it, but don't come back here with company." As a result, the Japanese didn't find Gnorro Field until two days before the end.

"Not long after they came, I rang Bud up with a queer assignment for the boys. We were doing everything possible to stop the Japs from swarming over onto Sumatra from Malaya. The Forts were out pasting their landing barges morning and night. We were using them practically as heavy pursuit—skimming down under the weather to chase landing barges going up the rivers.

"So we asked Bud to deliver a little strafing, and off they went, carrying belly tanks to get them there and stopping off at Andir. They went to work with 30-pound fragmentation bombs and their machine guns, and when they got back Bud reported the Japs had had Japs diving off those barges in full field equipment. He sank quite a few and drowned hundreds of Japs, and every P-40 got back to Java.

"But they were closing in on us from still another direction. We could no longer operate from those advance fields at Kendari and Samarinda across the Java Sea. The Japs had moved into Borneo and the Celebes. So we waited for what we knew was coming. They must be stacking Jap bombers onto what had been our own fields there—within easy range of Java.

"We didn't have to wait long. One morning I was at the KNILM Airfield at Surabaya, checking on a transport plane which was supposed to be bringing in ground crews for Bud Sprague's fighters, when at Operations they reported in great excitement that a Jap bomber force was over Java itself, headed down the island.

(Abbreviation for "Koninklijke Nederlandsch-Indische Luchvaart Maatschappij," meaning Royal Dutch Indies Airplane Company.)

"I was panic-stricken for fear they might branch off at Malang and catch our Forts on the ground there. Luckily the pass was bottled up with fog, so they came on down toward us at Surabaya.

"At almost exactly eleven o'clock we could hear them hitting the city off in the distance. We knew they wouldn't miss us. I'll never forget poor old Baalerts, the head of that KNILM Field. He'd never been bombed before, and asked me what to do. He had already crawled into his car. I told him that was the worst thing he could do, that we should run for the concrete slit trenches at the edge of the field. "As we ran, we could hear the second wave coming over the harbor next to our airdrome—hear the hollow echo as the bombs crashed into the oil storage base. They practically leveled Moro Kambangem, the Dutch naval base there, coming in out of the sun—it was really a beautiful job from the professional standpoint. It's second in size only to Singapore. The docks were left a shambles. Our American Navy's PBV's of Patrol Wing 10 were anchored there. One or two were burned on the ways, but the rest managed to take off, although the

He had been anxious that his wife know that he was all right. He died at three in the morning.

Japs strafed a dingy full of sailors rowing out to them. They also scored a direct hit on the barracks there, so for the second time those poor guys of Patrol Wing 10 lost all they had—the first had been at Cavite in the Philippines.

"Now came the third wave, headed right for our airdrome. Echoing around in the cement of our slit trenches, the sound of the crashes was terrific. Poor old Baalerts was down there lying on the concrete floor, his white bridal suit soaking up half an inch of dirty rain water. We were all thankful when we heard that bomb pattern moving away. They'd laid a nice strip across the field, but only one bomb happened to hit the macadam strip.

"I was just hoisting out of the trench what was left of our bridegroom—there had been a lot of noise and I'm afraid his condition was pretty grave—when the Zeros hit, so we got Baalerts back down again.

"All the Dutch had to meet them were twelve export-model Curtiss pursuits. They had little motors and were hardly better than advanced trainers. The Dutch had come to America in 1939 with nice shiny new-mined gold in their hands, begging to buy fighters. But this was all we could spare them, and it was the entire Dutch fighter force, except for another dozen which finally got back from Samarinda. Well, this brave dove was up to do what it could against about ten Zeros.

"We watched one Dutchman coming in for fuel when two Zeros crossed his tail, their guns going full-blast, hammering tracers into his tail—watched his plane roll over and dive into the red dust at the edge of the field.

"Now another Dutch pilot comes in, with a Zero streaking for his tail, the Dutchman dodging all the way to the ground. Fifty feet from the ground he slips to the right to avoid that stream of tracers, but it's too late. Flames come gushing out, yet he manages to land and jump out of the burning plane. It's a terrific sight overhead; we can hear the faraway rattles as they clear their guns—the brave Dutch kids are fighting for their homeland, and seven planes were lost that morning of the twelve which had been Java's only defending Dutch fighter force.

"As I climbed out I realized the picture was darkening fast. We were depending on our Fortresses to keep the Jap transports away from Java, but we had to have fighters to defend our flying fields.

"But it wasn't until later in the day that I found out the Zeros had got Major Straubel, one of our own squadron commanders. He'd been piloting a B-18 we used for transportation, and was coming from Malang to Surabaya to talk with General Brett. The Zeros hit, and from the ground they saw him go over the hill on fire.

"They brought him into Surabaya hospital, and of course I went right out. It was in confusion because of the raid, but tiptoeing down those dim corridors, I finally found Straubel's room. He was burned black, and there was no hope, but they'd given him morphine to put him to sleep, and he was groaning in his sleep. But until then, when he'd been conscious, he hadn't let out a groan—had just been anxious that the nurse let his wife know he was all right. He died at three in the morning.

"While the liaison work lasted I was quartered at the big hotel in Surabaya, and the whole thing didn't feel right. You weren't sure of these natives as you had been of the Filipinos. That night a few were shot who were caught flashing lights into the air. And at the hotel the barefooted waiters, who slipped silently between tables and in and out of the high-ceilinged rooms, began to disappear.

"My own boy turned up a couple of days later, however—with tears in his eyes. Said he was back and to stay. He wasn't sure what this war was about, but he'd taken his mother and sister to the country, and was back for the rest of the war.

"Jap Intelligence must have been very good, because one bomber had peeled off the formation and made a direct run on the newly completed Dutch Army-Navy building (they had just moved in), scoring a near-miss.

"Meanwhile there was something else to straighten out. The Dutch fighters alone had been defending Surabaya—where had our P-40's been? Well, it turned out that in that Dutch fighter-control room they hadn't been able to speak English clearly enough for our boys to understand over the radio, so they'd been off in another corner of the sky. Getting someone in there who could talk with an American accent was another job for me.

"The Forts of course had been pounding away at the Japs, and had come back with ominous news—they'd spotted a Jap carrier out in the Java Sea and sent it away limping. If they'd had more strength and could have laid down a denser bomb pattern, they'd have sunk the damned thing. The Navy's PBV flying boats of Patrol Wing 10 were doing a wonderful reconnaissance job finding targets for us—every morning or so you might wake up to find a Jap carrier at almost any corner of the island. The PBV's would sight a little task force in the evening, but by the time I got word to our Forts to be out there next morning, often it had slipped away.

"Most important of all, ten more fighters presently arrived—hopping up from Australia via our stepping-stones of Timor and Bali. They were led in by Captain Will Connolly, a commercial pilot, who flew a Beechcraft and did the navigating for the fighters—that isn't part of their training. He reported they'd only lost one, which cracked up in landing at Timor Field.

"But they'd had plenty of excitement. Just as they were approaching Timor the boys had engaged and shot down a Jap fighter. It made Connolly plenty jittery. He was an old hand at flying, but his little Beechcraft had no guns, and wouldn't have lasted a minute in combat. So he hurried on out of there to land at Bali for lunch. But en route he sighted what was either a twin-tailed Messerschmitt 110 or a twin-engine Mitsubishi bomber, on patrol, which altered course and was coming toward them.

"Will Connolly had no radio in his Beechcraft to warn the ten P-40's in the formation he was leading, so he started going up and down frantically to signal them. Sure enough, the kids got the idea, and the two fighters on his wing peeled off and headed for the Jap. The first one put out his port engine, but the Jap feathered it and kept on going. But then he was hit by the second P-40, which, in spite of the fact that only two of its six guns were working, knocked out the starboard motor. And just to make sure of him, a third P-40, which by now had arrived, dived in to chew his wing off.

"You should have heard those American kids when they got in. Most of them were just out of flying school, and had never before flown a P-40 except for the three-hour practice Buzz Wagner had been able to give them as they passed through Brisbane. But now they had drawn first blood, and they were excited and yipping like a bunch of fox terrier pups chasing their first rabbit.

Daughter Can Make These for Mother (See Recipes Below)

Food Is Fun!

It's a good idea to let small fry take hold of the kitchen duties once in a while and give mother a rest. The children will enjoy doing new things and mother can feel she is contributing to their all-round development.

Naturally it isn't a good idea just to open wide the doors in the kitchen and leave the children up to their own designs. What I'm suggesting is that they be allowed to make up something they've watched mother do so often they know how.

There's a lot of satisfaction in making cupcakes, especially if they are iced with tinted icings and sprinkled with finely chopped nuts.

*Delicate Cup Cakes (Makes 18)

- 2 cups sifted cake flour
- 2 teaspoons double acting baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup butter or substitute
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs, unbeaten
- ¼ cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually. Cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Add flour alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Bake in greased cupcake tins in a moderate oven (375 degrees) 20 minutes or until done. Spread with confectioners' sugar icing or your favorite chocolate frosting. Decorate with chopped nuts, colored candies or tinted coconut.

A cookie that will keep fine and fresh and uses only a moderate amount of fat and sugar is this delectable citrus bar:

Orange Marmalade Bars (Makes 28 1-by-3-inch strips)

- ¾ cups sifted flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup shortening
- 1 cup sugar
- 3 well-beaten eggs
- 3 tablespoons orange marmalade
- 2 tablespoons grated orange rind
- 1 cup orange juice

Mix and sift together dry ingredients. Cream together shortening and sugar, then beat in eggs, marmalade, rind. Add dry ingredients alternately with orange juice. Turn into a greased pan and bake in a

Lynn Says:

The Score Card: Good news is in store for homemakers for there will be plenty of eggs on the market and cabbage and spinach. All of these foods give a boost to health and to your menus.

You will be eating about a pound less cheese this year than last. The kind available mostly will be Cheddar—also the kind most popular. Kinds least obtainable will be Limburger cream, roquefort and Italian. About 5 million more pounds of cheese are going to servicemen to help provide milk nutrients needed by armed forces. Cheese will also go to our Allies and to the Red Cross, which helps provide for our prisoners of war.

When you go marketing, watch weights and watch change. Just because you have more bookwork to do with points, don't neglect your prewar precautions of counting change.

moderate (350-degree) oven for 40 to 50 minutes. When cool, cut into narrow strips and spread with an orange icing made by creaming powdered sugar and orange marmalade. The icing may be omitted.

Frosted Fruit Bars (Makes 48 bars)

- 1 egg yolk
- ¼ cup brown sugar
- ¼ cup molasses
- ¼ cup sour cream
- 1½ cups sifted flour
- ¼ teaspoon soda
- ¼ teaspoon baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon ginger
- ¼ cup nuts, chopped
- ¼ cup dates, pitted and cut

Mix egg yolk, brown sugar, molasses and blend in sour cream. Sift together flour, soda, baking powder, salt and ginger. Blend into first mixture. Stir in dates and nuts. Spread into greased pan and bake for 15 minutes in a hot (400-degree) oven. Cool in pan. Frost with: ¼ cup confectioners' sugar beaten into one beaten egg white. Add salt and lemon extract.

Have you tried the new toppings that don't require elaborate preparation? Most of these are low on sugar and ideal to use on cakes the children have made. Here, too, is a good basic cake recipe on which to use them:

Standard Cake.

- ½ cup shortening
- ¾ cup sugar
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 1½ cups sifted flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream together shortening and sugar. Add eggs. Sift dry ingredients together and add alternately with milk and vanilla to creamed mixture. Pour into greased, floured 8-inch cake pans and bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven for about 35 minutes.

In using any of the following toppings, frost only top of cake. Square and loaf cakes take less icing than layer cakes.

I. Raisin Topping.

- 1 cup raisins, ground
- ¼ cup water
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- Dash of cloves

Mix ingredients in a saucepan and stir constantly while cooking until thickened—about 5 minutes. Cool slightly. Spread on warm cake.

II. Apricot Topping.

- ½ to ¾ cup apricot jam

Spread on warm cake.

Meringue Topping.

- 1 egg white, beaten stiff
- ¼ cup confectioners' sugar
- 1 teaspoon flavoring
- 2 tablespoons butter, softened

Beat sugar into egg white with flavoring. Fold in softened butter and spread on cooled cake.

Honey Icing.

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 3 tablespoons honey
- 1 tablespoon hot milk
- ¼ cup coconut
- Dash of salt

Mix all ingredients together. Spread on warm cake and broil slowly until icing bubbles and browns but does not burn.

Civilian Defense ---

DISTRICT No. 7
Bayview 6101

Well, I suppose many of us are being kept busy now with our victory gardens again, but let's not forget to save a little time for civilian defense. Chaplain Gatlin of the U. S. Naval hospital telephoned Mrs. D. A. Fraser, chairman, women's division, civilian defense council, and thanked our organization for the many (over 14,000) Easter cards and favors, also for the lap robes, slippers and various other gifts which were donated. However, there is still need for many more, so let us keep them coming.

Speaking of the victory gardens, folks are probably now planning their summer canning. With regard to the pressure cookers, the government advises that they be tested before used. Complete information as to where they can be tested will be given in an early issue, together with any further details received on canning.

Notice—The office room number of the women's division of civilian defense in the Spreckles building has been changed. The new room number is 237 Spreckles building.

Abbey Is Indorsed

For Congress Seat

By G.O.P. Group

Declaring victory is in prospect this year if the party unites instead of scattering its voting strength, the Republican County Central committee has indorsed the candidacy of James B. Abbey, former district attorney, for Congress.

Such action in a primary campaign, said Vroman J. Dorman, chairman, is unusual but not unprecedented. It took the form of a resolution in which committee members warned that with five Republicans seeking the nomination at the primary election May 16, the votes might be spread so thin that Representative Izac, Democrat who has cross-filed, might win on both tickets.

Previously, the Men's Republican League had indorsed Abbey for the same reason.

"We are faced with the unusual situation of a surplus of candidates, and since there is a possibility that the Democratic incumbent, having cross-filed, might get enough votes to take both nominations, a positive course of action was called for," Dorman stated.

"We can elect a Republican Congressman this year if we get solidly behind one candidate. In view of James B. Abbey's excellent record, his proven ability and character, and devotion to the principles for which our party stands, the committee deemed him the logical man to support. He has declared that one of the most vital issues is to get government back into the hands of the people, and as our Congressman he could be depended upon to fight for that very laudible objective."

He added that the committee's action was taken with full appreciation of the character and sincerity of the other four candidates seeking the Republican nomination.

The Central Committee also indorsed the candidacies of Fred H. Kraft, 78th District; Kathryn T. Niehouse, 79th District; and Charles W. Stream, 80th District, for re-election to the State Assembly.

Local Author's Work

In Important Volume

Mr. Johnnie Raaka, Ocean Beach, is one of the authors whose work is published in "The Spirit of the Free," a 600-page book of poems and lyrics just published. This is a volume which speaks for all Americans, for all freedom-loving people, in this war crisis. As such, it is a definite contribution to national morale and the war effort. Through publication of this book may be found the song of victory for which the people of the United Nations have been waiting. . . . Thousands of authors located in every part of the country competed for a place in this volume. Many of them are writers who have been published in other important publications and magazines and some of them are authors of books of their own. To have won a place in this volume is therefore an important literary achievement. The Haven Press, 55 W. 2nd st., New York, are the publishers.

An undivided heart, which worships God alone, and trusts Him as it should, is raised above all anxiety for earthly wants.—Geikie.

Don Smith Surprised

At Central Committee's

Endorsement of Abbey

"I am still a candidate for Congress, and will be actively campaigning up to election day," Don Smith, Republican congressional candidate, stated today in commenting on the Republican Central committee's endorsement of an opponent for the nomination.

"Naturally, I was very surprised at the committee's action," Smith declared, "especially in view of the fact that the committee's chairman had informed me and my supporters that the group would follow the recommendation of the state central committee to not endorse any candidate. In fact a 'hands off' policy seemed the wisest course in the interests of party solidarity, and in keeping with the national committee's view that the function of a central committee is to 'elect' and not to 'select.' However, the task of being a central committeeman is a difficult one, and I am sure the committee acted to the best of its ability."

Smith stressed he would continue in the race, however, as "one of the major planks of my platform is the return of government to the people. To quit the race because 15 or 20 party members think another candidate more qualified to represent San Diego county would mean breaking faith with my own conviction and those of my friends who are supporting my candidacy."

Postwar Opportunities

Babson Prefers Merchandising

BABSON PARK, Mass., April 14.—Many letters come to me from men in the service and from their families asking as to what lines of business should offer the best opportunities of the war. Personally, I prefer the Merchandising Group, which includes everything from the small retailer who lives over his store and employs only his family to the great distributing concerns such as Sears, Roebuck and Montgomery Ward. It is impossible for anyone to make a profit on inflation, but good merchandisers should suffer least from inflation as their stocks of goods are constantly becoming more valuable. Merchandisers can usually pass along taxes and quickly adjust themselves to changing conditions.

How to Select an Employer

It takes a little capital and patience to operate a retail store for one's self. Furthermore, it takes time and patience to work up to a good executive position in a chain store organization or even in a department store. Hence, most men wind up by getting connected with some special industry or manufacturing concern. The question is as to which industry has the greater opportunities and which pays the largest salaries and highest wages. Following will be found a list of the leading American industries. These industries, I have grouped and, in fact, arranged in an order according to their rates of return on their total investment, before interest and income taxes. My theory is that the best opportunities lie with the companies that are making the most profits. (There are those included in Group 4, which showed prewar earnings are from 15% to 25%.) I have divided these 72 industries into four groups of employers as follows:

Group No. 1—Low Profits

The first group includes eight industries. During the last pre-war year these earned only from 3% to 6% on their capital investment. These eight follow: Railroad equipment, Fertilizer products, Timber and lumber products, Coke oven products, Cane sugar, Silk products, Textile and sewing machinery, Steel and rolling mill works.

Group No. 2—Small Profits

The second group contains 28 industries. The last prewar year for these industries showed a interest and income taxes) of 6% in the case of Clay Products up to 10% in the case of Knit Goods. The entire list of Group 2 follows: Clay products, Agriculture machinery and tractors, Petroleum producing and refining, Cotton textiles, Bolt, nut, rivet and screw products, Paper and pulp, Matches, Textiles dyeing and finishing, Hat and cap, Steel castings, Copper, Tanned, curried and finished leather, Heating and cooking apparatus, Cement, Flour milling, Malleable iron castings, Furniture, Plumbers supplies, Bread and bakery products, Book and magazine publishing, Beet sugar, Rayon and allied products, Heavy machinery, Saw, file and hand tools, Leather, boots and shoes, Paint and varnish, Rubber products, Knit goods.

Group 3—Fair Profits

The third group contains 18 industries starting with Silver and Plated Ware, earning 10% on the invested capital, and running up to Corn Products, earning 15% on the investment, during the last prewar year, before deducting interest and income taxes. This is a very good list and includes some of the most satisfactory industries for the long pull, although I don't advise anybody into Distilled Liquor. It will be noted that this Group 3 includes Refrigerator Equipment, Gypsum and Asbestos Products, Business Machines and Clothing, all of which are growing and profitable industries. Silver and plated ware, Pump, pumping and air compressors, Hardware, Woolen and worsted goods, Refrigerator and air conditioning units, Lead and zinc, Gypsum, asbestos products and roof coatings, Firearms and ammunition, Utility industry, Biscuits and crackers, Engine turbines, water wheels and windmills, Business machines and typewriters, Distilled liquors, Tin cans and tinware.

Group 4—Good Profits

The fourth group contains 18 industries which were the most profitable of all during the few months before the War. They earned from 15% to 25% on the capital invested. The Radio and Phonograph group showed a profit of 15%, and this profit increased in the following order up to the including Drug and Medicine Group, which showed 25%. (I might add that there were also two other industries not included in the above—the Aircraft Industry, which showed a profit of 35% and the Soft Drink Industry which showed a profit of 45%.) Radios and phonographs, Glass and glassware, Men's and boys' cotton, leather and miscellaneous garments, Automobile parts and accessories, Wool carpets and rugs, Chemicals, Machine tool accessories and precision tools, Canned fruits and vegetables, Perfume and cosmetics, Motor vehicles and accessories, Cigarette and tobacco products, General preparations, Soap, cottonseed products and cooking fats, Food specialties, Shipbuilding, Confectionery, Malt and beverage brewing, Drugs and medicines.

Study the Management

Too many young men and women take the first job which comes along. This will especially be true after the War. To avoid being a rolling stone, it is wise to take a little time in selecting the industry which you are willing to master and especially the concern with which you wish to stay for life. The money which the industry is making is not the only concern. Look up the character of the men for whom you are considering working. Do they attend some church? Are they interested in civic affairs? Have they a reputation for fair dealing and good treatment of their employees? But in selecting an industry, consider also your own qualifications. Are you mechanical or not? Do you get on well with other people? Are you slow but accurate; or are you rapid but a little careless? Are you good at figures? Do you prefer to work in an office or pound the pavements and ring door bells at selling? What about your character? The industry should be chosen which fits into your temperament. Don't necessarily select an industry from Group 3 or 4. None of these may be suited to your training, physique or temperament.

Electrical machinery and apparatus, Men's, youths', and boys' clothing, Cranes, dredging, excavating and road building, Corn products.

Group No. 4—Good Profits

The fourth group contains 18 industries which were the most profitable of all during the few months before the War. They earned from 15% to 25% on the capital invested. Two roads ahead, two stars beyond, And you and I to choose Which road and star shall be our goal Which one to gain or lose. One star is shining brilliantly, And lights a crowded road, With those who love life's pleasures. And seek not a heavy load, The other star shines bright and clear And light a lonely way Few care to trudge along it Or shove the rocks away. And oh that when there comes th day, For you and I to make our choice I pray that we can smile quite bravely And in the difficult rejoice.

High School Girls Inspired By Work

Something new has been added to high school curriculums for almost 100 San Diego girls.

This was disclosed at the Southern California Telephone company central office switchboards, where high school girls students, working part-time and receiving school credit for it, are assisting in the handling of the mounting volume of war calls from the San Diego district.

"It is an inspiration to see the girls putting up the calls," said A. V. Engel, telephone company manager. "Quick to learn the rudiments of the work, they soon were able to handle switchboard positions and to take some of the burden off the shoulders of their more experienced associates, who have been doing a marvelous job ever since the outbreak of war."

Engel said that the girls are paid while in training and that they always work under the supervision of expert operators, who are ready at a moment's notice to come to their assistance. Within a few days after they begin work they are able to handle simple calls and with added experience take on the responsibility of completing calls that require switching at various points, he said.

Comments of the high school girls indicate that they enjoy their experience and welcome the opportunity to assist in an important war job, the manager stated. Many of them, he said, plan to work full time during vacation and to take up the work as a career following their graduation.

The stars come nightly to the sky,
The tidal wave comes to the sea, Nor time, nor space, nor deep, Nor high,
Can keep my own away from me,

In Spite of Precautions Habit Will Assert Itself

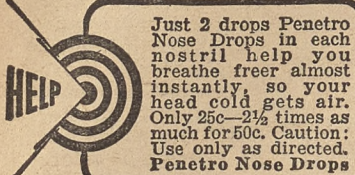

The bus conductor had been told off several times by his good wife for the noise he made when coming home after late duty.

"I wish you would try to be more careful when you come home, Jim," she told him. "You wake the baby every time you come in. You're so noisy!"

Jim promised to do his best.

After the next spell of late duty he opened the front door without a single creak, and reached the top landing safely.

There and then his old habit overcame him. In a stentorian voice he bellowed: "Have your fares ready, please!"

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

The importance of the tire conservation program, effected in 1942, will be appreciated when it is known that the number of passenger car tires rationed and those sold on new cars in 1942 only equaled 8.8 per cent of the passenger car tires shipped for all purposes in 1941.

Neglected small tire tread cuts and bruises can become serious rubber wasters. A small cut, even though it does not go entirely through the fabric, lets in dirt, water and foreign matter. Constant flexing increases the size of the cut until the tire is beyond repair. Prompt repair is a patriotic duty these days.

Memo to

Mrs. Housewife

By Anne Goode.

Now you can get vitaminized coffee! Each pound contains 1,200 units of Vitamin B-1 and the brew is a blend of six varieties of the beverage bean.

WPB now allows the manufacture of certain types of two-toned shoes. They require a little extra care in polishing, so don't forget to give them the ol' shinalua with the wax-liquid polish that has the handy little dauber in the bottle. Then the polish won't run over into the other color.

Bright colored string gloves are quite the latest thing. And you wear a different color on each hand. If you crochet they'd be easy to make.

Horse zeos zeet oats! No news! But a paint company warns us to keep the new synthetic fibre brushes away from them because they eat them, too.

If the painter leaves a few splashes of paint on your window glass, as he did on mine, try taking it off with a coin—a half dollar is a good size.

Don't forget to take advantage of the large amount of potatoes on the market now. They're rich in calories, vitamins B and C, iron and mineral constituents. To scalloped potatoes add left-over ham cubes and dot with vitaminized margarine. Add a bit of onion, if desired, and you have a swell casserole dish.

OPA says meat rationing won't end soon in the United States. To stop it now would mean unfair distribution to high-priced markets with little to other sections.
